

Demo Voiceover Script

Narration for the screen-recording flow /ad/1 → /ad/2 → /ad/3 → /ad/4 → /ad/6.

Voice direction: calm, confident founder. Conversational, not announcer. ~2.3–2.5 words/sec.

Pacing note: the current recording is ~23s — too fast to read this and let each screen breathe. Re-record holding each screen for the Hold times below (total ≈ 48s). A compressed 23s version is at the bottom if you want to keep it short.

Full script (~48s)

Screen 1 — /ad/1 “Ask before the move”

On screen: founder types “I plan to decrease Red Bull Coconut & Berry sales next week” → Synapse replies “No. Increase it while demand is still compounding.”

HOLD ≈ 9S

“Every founder makes a call like this one. Coconut & Berry is already selling itself, so my instinct is to pull the ad spend off it and put that budget behind my slower drinks. Before I act, I ask Synapse. And it tells me: don’t.”

Screen 2 — /ad/2 Product hero → can zoom

On screen: the Coconut & Berry can, then it zooms into a white transition.

HOLD ≈ 4S

“Synapse connects straight to your Shopify store —”

Screen 3 — /ad/3 Product pull / “TikTok is carrying the breakout”

On screen: KPI cards (Revenue +28%, Units +42%), revenue-by-source breakdown, TikTok at 34%.

HOLD ≈ 10S

“— and pulls every product-level signal into one view. Revenue’s up twenty-eight percent, units up forty-two. And one source — TikTok — is driving a third of it. This isn’t noise. It’s a real breakout.”

Screen 4 — /ad/4 Full prediction / “Stockout likely inside the next order cycle”

On screen: stockout prediction, evidence cards, mubit recall of Tropical & Peach editions.

HOLD ≈ 13S

“Then it predicts what comes next. Coconut & Berry sells out in three to four days. And it’s confident — because it remembers two past launches that broke the exact same way, and stocked out before the reorder landed. That’s the difference: Synapse doesn’t just see this week. It remembers every week.”

Screen 6 — /ad/6 Final verdict / “Do not decrease Coconut & Berry”

On screen: verdict to increase the breakout, three moves, and the “decrease these instead” forecast.

HOLD ≈ 12S

“So the verdict overturns my plan. Don’t cut it — push it while stock lasts, protect the reorder, and ease off the drinks memory says are about to fade. Ten products, one clear move. That’s Synapse: your analytics, turned into one decision.”

Compressed version (~23s — fits the current cut)

- Screen 1: “Coconut & Berry is selling itself, so I want to move that ad budget onto my slower drinks. I ask Synapse first — and it says don’t.”
- Screen 2→3: “It pulls every Shopify signal: revenue up twenty-eight percent, and TikTok driving a third of it.”
- Screen 4: “Then it predicts a stockout in three days — because it remembers two past launches that broke the same way.”
- Screen 6: “The verdict: don’t cut it, push it. Your analytics, turned into one decision.”

Delivery tips

- Land hard on the three hooks: “it tells me: don’t”, “it remembers every week”, and the closing “one decision.”
- Leave a half-second of silence on each screen change so the cut and the line breathe together.
- Record 2-3 takes of the closing line — it’s the one people remember.